Summary

Passionate First-Year B.Tech Student | Aspiring Software Engineer | Web3 Enthusiast | Cybersecurity Explorer

Hello there! I'm Ayush Raj, a dynamic first-year Bachelor's of Technology student at Narula Institute of Technology, Kolkata. My journey in the world of technology began just a year ago, but my enthusiasm and curiosity are boundless.

Web3 and Development:
I am deeply fascinated by the potential of Web3 technologies and their transformative impact on the digital landscape. Currently honing my coding skills, I am eager to delve into the realms of web development and explore the endless possibilities that the decentralized web offers. From coding challenges to hands-on projects, every line of code I write is a step toward mastering the craft.

Cybersecurity Explorer:
With a keen interest in ensuring the digital world remains secure, I'm venturing into the exciting realm of cybersecurity. Although my journey is in its early stages, I am actively seeking opportunities to contribute to the evolving cybersecurity landscape. Learning and applying ethical hacking techniques is my next big challenge.

Continuous Learner | Event Enthusiast | Certification Aficionado:
Outside the classroom, I'm a dedicated learner, always hungry for knowledge. I've attended numerous tech events, gaining insights from industry experts. While I'm yet to participate in hackathons, I've earned certifications that reflect my commitment to staying abreast of the latest technologies.

Open to Internship Opportunities:
As I embark on this exciting journey, I am actively seeking internship opportunities that align with my interests in Web3, development, and cybersecurity. Eager to contribute, learn, and grow in a professional environment, I am ready to bring a fresh perspective to the world of technology.

Let's connect! I'm passionate about forging new connections, sharing ideas, and exploring potential collaborations. Whether you're a fellow enthusiast or a seasoned profession
